MISS POPE, SCHOOL HEAD, PASSES AWAY

Principal of Kamehameha
School for Girls Dies at Home of Her Sister

WAS UNTIRING WORKER FOR THE INSTITUTION

High Tribute Paid to Deceased
by Those With Whom She Was Closely Allied

Miss Ida M. Pope, for the past 20 years principal of the Kamehameha Girls' School, and known and beloved throughout the Hawaiian Islands, died at the home of her sister in Chicago, Ill., at an early hour this morning, according to cable advices received by Miss Katherine Pope, another sister, who is a teacher in the Kamehameha Schools.

Shortly after the close of the 1913-14 school term at Kamehameha last month, Miss Pope left for the mainland for a brief vacation, at which time she was in rather poor health. A cablegram was received last night announcing that she was seriously ill, being followed by another this morning with the sad news of her death. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon. The remains are to be removed from Chicago to Bucyrus, Ohio, where they will be interred beside those of the father and mother of the deceased.

Miss Pope was born in Crestline, Ohio, and was about 50 years old at the time of her death. In 1890, after being graduated from Oberlin, she came to Honolulu and, until the founding of the Kamehameha Girls' School four years later, was a member of the faculty of the Kawaiahiki Seminary. She was appointed principal of the Kamehameha Girls' School, which position she held until her death, just 20 years.

"What the Kamehameha Girls' School is now, and all that it ever hopes to be in future years, it owes to the untiring efforts of Miss Pope," was the tribute paid the deceased by a close friend this morning.

These words ring true, for under Miss Pope's guidance the school has grown remarkably during the past 20

CALIFORNIANS INVESTIGATING FRUIT INDUSTRY

Outcome of Visit May Mean
Trade Worth Millions to Territory of Hawaii

WM. E. BRODERSEN SEES BIG MARKET FOR SEEDS

Alligator Pears of Particular Interest to Businessmen
of San Francisco

Unostentatiously dropping into Honolulu from San Francisco six days ago, two California businessmen forth with began an investigation into certain natural resources of Hawaii, the outcome of which may be a fruit trade worth millions to these islands. They are Wm. E. Brodersen and J. J. Armstrong of San Francisco.

"We came here to look into the possibility of obtaining alligator pears and other fruits for the San Francisco market," said Mr. Brodersen to a Star-Bulletin reporter at the Young yesterday afternoon. "If some arrangement can be made by which the fruit can be shipped without danger of carrying the fruit fly, so that it will be exempted from the federal quarantine, I have no doubt that a profitable business can be established that would be limited only by the quantity of fruit which the islands could supply. I intend to visit the experiment station this afternoon and consult with the officials there on the subject."

"Mr. Armstrong is now making a tour of the islands to get a line on the number of trees and so forth, with a view to estimating the probable supply of fruit available. I leave for the coast in the Wilhelmina."

"Yes, our inquiries include other fruits than the pear, such as papaya, breadfruit and soursop. Besides experiments to find the best way for shipping the fresh fruit, by refrigeration or otherwise, we may try something in the way of putting up preserved fruits."

"We may possibly take up the growing of alligator pears and other subtropical fruits in Hawaii. The Bangor Development Company of Butte county, California, has 10,000 alligator pear seedlings on its ranch at Bangor, near Oroville. It is a strange fact

CAME TO CELEBRATE FOURTH, HURT, ASKS COMPENSATION

When the transom in the city and county treasurer's office crashed down July 4 and smashed the glass below into many pieces, Shung Hyung was hit by some flying glass and pretty badly hurt. He now asks the supervisors to pay him for his loss of time and medical treatment.

In his letter in which he communicates his request, Shung speaks touchingly of the reason that brought him to town. Says he:

"I came to town 4th of July on last Saturday holiday of U. S. A. Independence Day for looking over the U. S. flag stars and stripes."

So when he was looking them over, the transom fell and he got hurt.

The supervisors have his request for liquidation under consideration.

OH, YOU BACHELORS! HERE'S THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Honolulu bachelors of 45 or 50 years, please note!

There is a lady in Merced, California—qualifications as to age and beauty unknown—who is "just crazy" to come to Honolulu to live.

Postmaster William C. Young suddenly became aware of this fact yesterday while engaged in opening the morning's mail. But, being too busy with matters regarding postal substitutions, clerks and carriers, and not wishing to disappoint the lady, he turned to the press for assistance in the matter.

Here is the letter:

"Will you please give this letter to some nice man about 45 or 50, as I want to write to someone there, as I am crazy to come there to live. Please do this for me and greatly obliged."

For information see the postmaster, bachelors of Honolulu.

"Of course, I shall help the lady all I can," said Mr. Young. "But we are trying to increase the efficiency of the local postoffice, and you can't do that and conduct a matrimonial agency at the same time."

JIM DOLE'S COW-PASTURE IS SCENE OF GREAT BALL GAME

(By Our Suburban Sporting Correspondent.)

The interest in baseball has been greatly stimulated by the recent series of games at the Athletic park, but by far the most exciting game of the season was played last Saturday afternoon in Jim Dole's cow pasture at Wahiawa between two picked teams captain by J. D. Dole and W. E. Brown.

The line-up was as follows:

Dole's team—Catcher, J. D. Dole; pitcher, Mr. West; first base, Dr. Shepherd; second base, Mrs. La Follette; third base, Dorothy Peterson; short, J. P. Morgan; left field, Ernest Peterson; center field, Mrs. Bromfield Brown.

Brown's team won by a score of 12 to 10. Dole owed his defeat to the fact that his star second base woman severely injured her knee while sliding to first base. After examination by Dr. Shepherd, amputation was found unnecessary.

The game scintillated with brilliant plays. J. P. Morgan, who played short on Dole's team, covered the whole cow pasture from the water trough to the eucalyptus trees. Dorothy Peterson reached first base eight times only to find that the ball got there ahead of her.

The most spectacular play of the afternoon was made by H. Bromfield Brown of Wahiwa, who hit a long grounder that gave him a home run, but when he arrived at the home plate found that the ball had just reached the left field, and he started around again, reaching second base before Captain Brown could explain to him the difference between baseball and cricket.

GIRL RELATES BIG BATTLE TO SAVE HER LIFE

Survivor of Wreck of Empress of Ireland Swam Half Hour
in Icy St. Lawrence

MISS T. TOWNSEND GOES TO HOME IN AUCKLAND

Young Woman, Still in Her Teens, Saved From Death
by Crew of Storstad

Bearing unmistakable traces of the terrible suffering and privation due to exposure in the icy waters of the St. Lawrence, Miss T. Townsend, who miraculously escaped death in the Empress of Ireland disaster, arrived in Honolulu this morning in the Canada-Australasian liner Makura. Miss Townsend is en route to Auckland, N. Z., where a joyous family reunion is in store for one of the survivors of one of the greatest marine disasters of modern times.

In the disaster which brought death to more than 1000 persons the night of May 29, through the collision between the Canadian Pacific liner and the Norwegian collier Storstad, Miss Townsend witnessed suffering that has left an imprint upon the young girl that it will take a long time to erase.

"I was in the water for more than half an hour, and swam for a distance of about a mile when I, with several scantily clad companions, was picked up by a boat manned by sailors from the Storstad. We were soon raised to the deck of that vessel where dry clothing and stimulants were procured," said Miss Townsend this morning, as she viewed for the first time the island of Oahu and the city of Honolulu.

Girl Proved Brave Swimmer.

"I have been rated as a fair swimmer for some years. I have always had a liking for athletics and outdoor sports, and that may, in a measure, have accounted for my retaining a firm grip on life while all around me in the turbulent waters of the St. Lawrence were heard the agonizing cries of the dying as they struggled to retain their hold upon bits of wreckage."

Miss Townsend, together with 350 survivors of the Empress of Ireland, was landed at the little Canadian fishing village of Rimouski, from the Norwegian steamer Storstad. The young woman, barely 17 years of age, who today is spending a few hours in this city, has nothing but the highest praise to offer for the kindness shown her and to the other unfortunate by the Captain Anderson and his wife while they, bordering upon prostration, were on board the Norwegian freighter.

On a voyage to Great Britain, where she intended to spend several months, Miss Townsend decided to abandon the trip, following the terrible experience in the wreck of the Empress of Ireland. With nothing save the clothing in which she stood, the girl was befriended until such time as she could get into communication with relatives.

Darkness Retarded Rescue Work.

The collision taking place at night and at a time when the water was enveloped in a heavy fog, retarded the work of rescuing the thousand odd passengers in the Empress of Ireland who in the space of less than 30 minutes were plunged into the storm-tossed waters of the St. Lawrence. The young woman was fortunate in leaping from the rail of the steadily listing vessel to soon find a substantial piece of wreckage. With this assistance in keeping afloat, and guided by the sound of oars beating upon the rowlocks, Miss Townsend, with strong, steady stroke, made her way to what she believed to be a boat propelled by sailors from the collier. While she failed to understand the

CITY DADS MUST WAIT FOR ELECTRIC LIGHT COIN SAYS CALDWELL

"If the supervisors wish to charge the territory for the electric current consumed by it, they will have to wait and put in their bill at the next session of the legislature, for there is no money available for that purpose now," said John W. Caldwell, superintendent of public works.

At a meeting of the board of supervisors yesterday a resolution was introduced by Supervisor M. C. Pacheco and adopted which calls for the territory to pay the regular rate for current consumed by it. "We will put their buildings in darkness if the bill is not paid," said Pacheco.

This resolution is taken to be the supervisors' retaliation on the position taken some time ago by the superintendent of public works, by reason of which the city fathers were required to pay for the water supplied it by the territory. Now that the municipality has acquired the water works, the supervisors take it they are in an independent position and can force the territory to pay for the electricity used by it, or, in default, have the current shut off.

Superintendent Caldwell does not criticize their position nor does he endorse it. He points out though that in his case the law required him to make the charge he did.

JOHN HUGHES TELLS WHY HE QUIT HIS JOB

Objected to Secretary Thayer's
Direction of Manner of Expenditure of Funds

"TOO OLD TO TAKE A COURSE IN SPENDING"

Believes Provision Should Have Been Made for Superintendent of Construction

"I would not be a member of any commission and have a name like Wade Warren Thayer come and dictate as to how to spend the money," declared John A. Hughes, former member of the Hawaii Fair Commission, when asked this morning to state his reasons for his recent resignation from that position. "I am just as solicitous regarding the spending of the funds of the territory as Mr. Thayer, Governor Pinkham or any other man."

It has recently come to light that Mr. Hughes, from the beginning, was opposed to the retrenchment policies adopted by the governor regarding the estimates made by the fair commission concerning certain expenditures for the Hawaiian exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Principal among these matters, it is said, was the cut which the governor made in the estimates for the cost of the building, which was set at $50,000 by the commission and later, upon the governor's suggestion, reduced to $35,000. Questioned regarding this rumor this morning, Mr. Hughes said: "The fair commission was appointed with trust placed in it to spend the money of the people of this territory with care. Now, if it can't do this, the members should resign. They should not allow Mr. Thayer to say what bills he will pay and what bills he will not pay. When he first came here the governor should have called the members of the commission before him and said:

"Gentlemen, here is $100,000; spend it and spend it well."

"I do not believe that I should have resigned had not Mr. Thayer told the commission not to pay certain bills. He refused to pay for an inspector for the fair building. I believe that it will be impossible from a business point of view to construct that building without an inspector to superintend the work, and any other man who knows anything about business will agree with me. Mr. Thayer stated that the architect will look after the building. You know an architect works along two lines; one to draw only the plans for a building, and the other to draw the plans and provide for the superintendence of construction. The latter costs more than the former."

"Had it not been for this I would never have resigned. I don't believe in it. I believe in sticking to a thing. But I could not stand Mr. Thayer's dictating as to how to spend money. I am too old for that."

GOVERNOR PINKHAM SHORTENS HOURS FOR RECEIVING VISITORS

From now on Governor Pinkham's office hours, as far as callers are concerned, are from 11 o'clock in the morning to 12 o'clock, and from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 3 o'clock. At all other times during the day his office will be closed to visitors and the reason for this is twofold. The first is that he wishes to spend all his time on the preparation of his annual report to the president, and the second is that he feels too much of his time was taken up with visitors and that they interfere seriously with any work he wishes to take up.

"I no longer get something well under way than I am interrupted," he said this morning. "The consequence is that the work of the office has not proceeded as fast as it should. Therefore I am going to fix these visiting hours and they must be respected."

20th INFANTRY COMING BACK TO OAHU IS WORD.

Word has been received here unofficially that the 20th Infantry will be sent to Oahu to join the permanent garrison here just as soon as it can be spared from the Mexican border. The regiment has been notified that its home station is now Hawaii and not Salt Lake City.

This is in line with announcements made some months ago that the 20th was slated for this service and that the regiment had been so notified before being sent to the border. Nothing official to this effect has been received at headquarters of the Hawaiian department, although it is known by officers that the organization had been slated for service here.

The arrival of the 20th will be in the nature of a return home for the regiment was relieved here three years ago by the 2d Infantry. Although there have been a number of changes in personnel, many of the officers are well known here.

Tucker Will Be In Woods' Office Say Rumorologists

Joshua D. Tucker, land commissioner, who is booked for chief clerkship in office of his successor by the rumorologists.

Governor Pinkham Throws No Light on Reports on Land Commissionership

Guesses and rumorologists of the capital who have occupied themselves lately with speculations on what was slated for Palmer Woods in the way of a Territorial "cabinet" position, and in what way this slate will effect Land Commissioner Joshua D. Tucker, have secured what they brand as authoritative information on the subject. And this is what they say the slate calls for:

Commissioner Tucker will resign his position and Palmer Woods will be appointed land commissioner. But Mr. Tucker is not to be left out in the cold. He will be a sort of chief clerk, an adviser to the new commissioner, and will receive a fair salary for his services. He will not sign any of the instruments of the office or have anything to do with the handling of the cash.

Governor Pinkham did not throw any new light on the matter this morning. He dismissed the subject with a couple of non-committal words. But the guesses and rumorologists say their "dope" is absolutely correct.

PROMOTIONISTS WILL ADVERTISE 1915 CARNIVAL

Committee to Spend $1250 for Posters—Local Artists Invited to Submit Designs

A proposition submitted by the directors of the Mid-Pacific Carnival to the Promotion Committee that the latter organization, with the use of $1250 of the Carnival corporation's finances, undertake the handling of the poster advertising of the 1915 celebration, was accepted at an adjourned meeting of the promotionists this morning. The members of the committee agreed to undertake the proposition with the understanding that no more than $1250 be paid out by the committee for the accepted poster design, posters and reductions of same in postcard and mailing card size, should such be ordered.

James D. Dougherty, director-general of the 1915 Carnival, was present at the meeting and suggested that in advertising for the design of the poster the statement should be made that a poster was wanted showing Waikiki beach, Diamond Head, in the background, and any life that the artist might suggest other than a surfer. The suggestions of the director-general were accepted and the secretary authorized to advertise for designs, the contest to close at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, August 1. The size of all designs submitted must be the uniform 26 by 38 inches and of any color scheme that could be reproduced by the three or four color process. The lettering on the poster shall be "Mid-Pacific Carnival, February 29 to 27, 1915, Honolulu."

Among other matters of business, a request was received from J. D. McInerney, who was unable to be present at the meeting, asking that the committee authorize the sending of a letter to the directors of the Country club to the effect that they permit their golf expert, Mr. Bell, to confer with Bertram Riverbush as to the practicability of establishing a golf course in Kaulaolani park.

GENERAL FUNSTON READY TO HANDLE DEMONSTRATION UPON ARRIVAL OF HUERTA

Families of Provisional President and General Blanquet Reach Orizaba, From Which Point They May Proceed to Puerto Mexico for Embarkation on the Dutch Cruiser Korte-naer for Europe—Captain of Vessel Recently Visited Mexico City—Huerta About Streets of Capital.

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles]
VERA CRUZ, Mexico, July 15.—Brigadier-general Frederick Funston, in command of the American forces in Mexico with headquarters at this post, has laid careful plans for special precautions to be taken to preserve order in case President Huerta or his family arrives in Vera Cruz.

While there is but little evidence that rioting or a demonstration might follow the arrival of Huerta, General Funston is taking no chances but will be prepared to meet any emergency that may arise.

The two special trains, carrying the families of Huerta and General Blanquet, have reached Orizaba and it is possible they may proceed from that point to Puerto Mexico, whither the Dutch cruiser Kortenaer sailed yesterday.

The captain of the Kortenaer recently paid a visit to Mexico City, at which time it is believed he made arrangement for the safe conveyance of the Huerta and Blanquet families to a European port. The cruiser sailed from this port to Puerto Mexico without the captain, he making the trip overland and meeting his vessel at its destination.

HUERTA STILL AROUND MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, July 15.—Notwithstanding the many varying reports regarding the expected departure of President Huerta for the coast, from where it is stated he intends to embark for Europe, after announcing his abdication, he is around town today.

Every effort to learn whether he intends departing in the wake of his family and that of General Blanquet has proved futile.

Fashionable Nob Hill Aroused By Bull Making a Social Call At Early Hour in Morning

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles]
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 15.—The frantic screams of women, mingled with the mad bellowings of an infuriated bull, served as the alarm clock which awakened the late sleepers on Nob Hill, where reside the wealth, fashion and beauty of San Francisco, this morning.

Added to the melody of the bull and the frightened women was the crash of doors as the bull made his way to the third floor of a fashionable apartment house and the commotion occasioned by five of San Francisco's minions of the law, who eventually persuaded the bull that a lady's bedroom was not the proper place for a social call.

Opposed to being led meekly to the stockyards and to certain slaughter, the bull broke loose from his guardian, made a mad dash through the business district, fortunately before the streets were filled with their usual morning crowds, made tracks for the fashionable Nob Hill district and aided in a demonstration that reminded many of the fateful morning of April 17, when Nob Hill suffered severely through the earthquake.

Choosing one of the most fashionable of the many exclusive apartment houses in this vicinity, the escaped bull commenced to climb the stairs and succeeded in reaching the fourth floor only after meeting a number of obstacles in the shape of doors on the different landings, which he swept before him with crashes that added to the bedlam caused by his unannounced entry into the building.

A riot call was turned in and a wagon-load of policemen rushed into the troubled district. Five of the "finest" finally cornered the bull on the fourth floor and were in somewhat of a quandary as to methods and means for removing him from the building. It eventually became necessary to back the intruder into the bedroom of one of the ladies residing in the apartment house in order that he might be turned around and started upon his downward journey and put on his course to the stockyards and the butcher.

The entire neighborhood was in a state of panic until the disturber of the peace of Nob Hill's aristocracy had been removed from the building and, under extra guard, started for the slaughter house.

Another Mt. Lassen Eruption; Storms Says Active Volcano

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles]
REDDING, Cal., July 15.—The eighteenth eruption of Mt. Lassen occurred today and was the longest thus far recorded. A column of smoke a mile in height again accompanied the eruption which lasted for six hours.

W. H. Storms, former state mineralogist, is positive in his statement that Mt. Lassen is a live volcano. He says:

"There are many who express the opinion that Mount Lassen is not again an active volcano—that it is merely a geyser. No greater mistake could be made. Lassen is once more an active volcano in the strictest sense of the word."

"The present phenomenon may be considered a volcano in embryo, as it were. All volcanoes have to make a start, whether situated in a region already a seat of volcanism or in a country consisting wholly of sedimentary rock."

"A new fissure has formed near the top of the great volcanic mountain. From this rent in the rocks steam and sulphurous gases are escaping. When the vent becomes clogged by the falling of debris from the adjacent walls the pressure of the steam accumulates below and finally a critical point is reached when an explosion, which is more or less violent, occurs, the force of which is only measurable by the amount of pressure below."

"The entire region is one of repeated volcanic eruption in the past, and no one can safely predict that another eruption of molten rock may not occur at any time."

"Naturally the recent performances of Mount Lassen have attracted many curious and venturesome sightseers. It is a beautiful country and one well worthy of a visit, but my advice is to stay at a respectful distance from the main mountain if they value safety, for an eruption may occur at any moment, though it may be long delayed. Thus far it has been absolutely impossible to fix any definite periodicity to the occurrence of these eruptions."

Parsons and Wives to See Fight

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles]
LONDON, Eng., July 15.—Setting on the "Gunboat" Smith-Georges Carpenter fight here tomorrow night is 9 to 10 in favor of the French champion. Thousands of Carpenter's countrymen have crossed the channel to witness the bout and a huge attendance is assured. All classes are showing interest in the contest, the favorable trend of public opinion toward pugilism being shown by the fact that many clergymen have engaged ringside seats for themselves and their wives.

Militants Again Use Whips

Guaymas Evacuation Begins

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles]
GUAYMAS, Mexico, July 15.—The evacuation of this garrison began today and the armistice will continue until the entire personnel of the garrison has embarked with a possible destination of Mazatlan.
